ELMER ALBRITTON, MAYFIELD YOUNG MAN, IS RUN DOWN

Leg Crushed Off at Knee and Shock and Loss of Blood
May Kill Him.

Relatives Cannot Account for
His Whereabouts.

VISITING HIS WIFE'S PARENTS

Chances for recovery are against Elmer Albritton, 25 years old, of Mayfield, who was run over by a box car last night about 9 o'clock, about 100 feet north of the intersection of Tennessee street and the Mayfield road. This afternoon Albritton was resting as well as could be expected, but the loss of blood and the shock of the injury may be too much for his constitution. His left knee was crushed to a jelly, and it was amputated just above the knee. His right leg was fractured below the thigh, while the two middle fingers on his right hand, and the index finger on his left hand were amputated.

The facts of the accident were difficult to learn, or what Albritton was doing in the railroad yards. He has regained consciousness several times since the accident, but has no recollection of the accident. He was injured on a spur track, which is known as the "Buckskin Bill" track. Last night switch engine 199, in charge of Engineer Louis Gibbons and Fireman V. M. Killough was switching cars in the yard, and "kicked" one car down the spur. Brakeman Athelene Boyd, colored, was on the car putting on brakes to prevent it from striking other cars, when he heard a scream. He stopped the car and climbed down and found Albritton on the track. It is probable that Albritton was walking down the spur track, and the car rolling on the track did not make any noise, and he was knocked down without warning.

Albritton suffered great pain, and he was placed in the patrol wagon and rushed to Riverside hospital, where Dr. J. W. Bass and Dr. Horace Rivers gave him attention. Soon after reaching the hospital Albritton regained consciousness and gave his name. He was well dressed, and besides a gold watch, scarf pin and some money, had a card certifying he was a member of the Woodmen of the World in the Mayfield lodge.

Albritton with his wife and two small children, arrived in Paducah last Sunday and they were visiting Mrs. Albritton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Smith, 815 South Tenth street. Yesterday afternoon he left home about 2 o'clock to go down into the city, and that is the last the family learned of him until he was found last night on the railroad track. Albritton formerly worked in Paducah, and was acquainted in the city. He worked in his father's store in Mayfield. His father, J. T. Albritton, arrived early this morning. Albritton has one sister, Miss Iva Lee Albritton, of Mayfield.

His relatives are unable to account for his being in the railroad yards, or where he was from yesterday afternoon, although they were not uneasy, thinking he was with friends. It has been suggested that he was in the western part of the city and walked down the railroad track to Tennessee street, which is only a short distance from his father-in-law's home.

CAPTAIN HUTCHINS' MIND UNHINGED BY HIS DUTIES.

Washington, Feb. 27. — Captain Hamilton Hutchins, who was relieved of his command of the battleship Kearsarge by Admiral Sperry just before the fleet left Gibraltar, is to be examined by a special medical board which will look into his mental and physical condition. His mental condition is said to be most pitiable. It was of great nervousness under which Hutchins labored that he was, at his own request relieved of his command. He told Sperry he did not feel willing to trust himself on the bridge of the vessel during any length of time and felt that in justice to the department and to the officers and men under him that he should be relieved of all responsibility of bringing the ship back to the United States. His condition is believed to be due to the great strain and responsibility incident to the voyage around the world.

Thirteen Tennessee Legislators Leave State to Prevent Passage of Election Reforms Over Veto

Warrant Issued for Their Arrest But Senator Cox is Supposed to Have Their Resignation.

Nashville, Feb. 27.—A big political sensation follows the disappearance of 13 Tennessee legislators, who left here to break a quorum so the reform laws couldn't be passed over Patterson's veto. One of these laws is the primary election law. Warrants were issued for the missing men. It is announced here that ex-Governor Cox has their resignations and as fast as they are brought back these will be filed, preventing the passage of the bills. It is reported the men have gone to Kentucky to escape arrest.

The 13 absentees are: Messrs. Banks, Cummings, Fort, Howse, Kelley, McKay, Matthews, Muse, Neal, Senter, Sugg, Swab and Turner. These senators had all vigorously opposed the election bills.

Under the present law the governor names the state election board, which in turn names the local boards, which have charge of the elections. Thus the state machine with the governor at the head absolutely controls elections. The new law would wrest this power from the governor, and place it in the hands of the legislature, which is Democratic. Patterson vetoed the bill, as it would destroy the present machine.

Then he found he could escape the police by betraying his companions. He said he was responsible for nearly all the Russian bomb throwing plots since 1897. It is believed they were in a plot to rob the elevated station and hold the young woman agent for a ransom. One of them, named Peppesen, is a rich Italian real estate man, who recently suffered at the hands of the Black Hand.

Governor Patterson Takes Stand in Defense of Coopers on Trial at Nashville for Murder of Carmack

Tell of Seeking Duncan Cooper at Tulane and His Interview at the Maxwell House—Two More Witnesses to be Heard.

Nashville, Feb. 27.—Only two witnesses remain to be called in the Cooper trial. A large crowd is at the court room. It is expected the case will go to the jury late next week.

T. Leigh Thompson was introduced for the defense, said it was smoky, cloudy the day of the killing and he did not recognize his acquaintances in the vicinity of the killing until he was close to them.

Roscoe Mathews corroborated part of Sharp's testimony. He told of the meeting of the Coopers and Sharp in the Arcade. Dr. Richard Drake, another witness, said he was one of the first at the scene after the killing, and found Carmack dead.

Governor Patterson went on the stand this morning to testify in the defense. Patterson took the stand and after declaring he has been governor of Tennessee two years and is now serving his second term, he said: "I knew Carmack and Cooper. I went to the Tulane hotel November 9 to find Cooper at the request of his daughter, Mrs. Burch, who telephoned me to see her father. I was with my secretary, but could not find the colonel."

Governor Patterson said: "Finally I went to the Maxwell house, where I found Cooper. I talked with him about sending a letter to Carmack, in which he had said if the latter continued his attacks the town would not be big enough to hold both. I advised him strongly against sending this letter. Mr. Bradford and Robin Cooper also told the colonel he had better not send the letter. At last the colonel agreed to let Bradford have the letter and we agreed to meet Bradford in his office at 3 o'clock. I thought the matter settled and went back to my office accompanied by Robin, who thanked me for what I had done. I advised him to stay with his father as much as he could. I asked Mrs. Williamson, who was lunching with the colonel, to keep him at the Maxwell until the time for the conference."

Manner and Demeanor.
The cross-examination of Major W. O. Vertrees was concluded last evening. He was asked:

"What was the manner and demeanor of Senator Carmack during the time you were in his office?"
"I saw nothing unusual."

"Was he angry or in an ugly mood?"
"He was not."

"Was there anything in his manner that indicated viciousness?"
"There was not."

"Did his manner change after the pistol was delivered?"
"It did not at all."

"Was there anything in his manner, demeanor, expression or otherwise that indicated any ill feeling toward anyone?"
"There was not."

"Was there anything in his manner, demeanor, conduct or expression of his face that indicated a purpose to do harm to anyone?"
"There was not."

"Was there anything in his manner, demeanor, conduct or expression of his face that indicated any ill feeling toward anyone?"
"There was not."

"How long before a third person came in?"
"Only a few moments until Mr. Gaines came in."

Court sustained objection of the defense to witness answering about any change in the expression or demeanor of Carmack after Congressman Gaines came in.

"Was there anything in Carmack's demeanor that indicated any animosity toward the defendants?"
"There was not."

"We want to except to that last question," said Mr. Anderson.

"Did Senator Carmack make any threats against defendants?"
"He did not."

"You gave this scabbard with the pistol?"
"Yes, sir."

"After you gave it to Senator Carmack, when did you next see it?"
"A few days ago when Judge Anderson called me down to the jail."

"You saw Senator Carmack put it in his hip pocket?"
"I did."

"You didn't see Senator Carmack put it in his overcoat pocket?"
"No. He didn't have on an overcoat."

"Major, I'll ask you if the attorneys for the state requested you to refrain

SILENCE IS GOLDEN.

She was asked whether it is true she had adjusted differences with her husband and would accompany him back to Ireland. She refused to answer questions.

from telling anyone of this evidence," was asked.

"They did not. I asked, however, the attorneys not to put me on the stand unless they felt it absolutely necessary, and that if they decided, to please give me notice, so I could notify the other side. They did not summon me, however."

"I'll ask you when the pistol resting in this scabbard is drawn from the pocket will the scabbard remain or come out with it?"

"The scabbard will remain unless you put your finger on it."

"Maj. Vertrees do you know whether or not Senator Carmack was familiar with the handling of a pistol?"

Court sustained the objection of the defense.

On re-direct examination Gen. Washington asked Maj. Vertrees if at the interview with the attorney general before this trial was commenced he was shown the pistol if he (witness) was shown the scabbard.

Maj. Vertrees said when shown the pistol he stated that when the pistol was delivered to Senator Carmack it had the scabbard on it.

Gen. Garner of the state here called once more for a list of the witnesses for the defense which he said had been promised in the morning in "a few moments." Judge Anderson handed over the following list of the witnesses for the defense.

Witnesses for Defense.
A. H. Wright—Significant. Shofner. "Misses" A. D. Peyton, C. Kilvington, Miss Craig, Dr. Dunbar, Dr. Leigh Thompson, Nathan Hirsch, Dr. Dake, R. H. Wright, Charles Hayden, Bob Creighton, Paul Davis, E. C. Lewis. "Mr." Dillar, Mrs. Dr. W. H. Halbert, Roscoe Mathews, W. S. Morgan and Tom Hutchison.

On the list also appeared the names of Sergeant Reid, Sergeant Meadors, Lieut. Pilcher and W. O. Vertrees, but lines were drawn through these names. The list contained the names of twenty who had not been on the stand, including R. T. Creighton.

R. T. Creighton.
Mr. R. T. Creighton was a witness for the defense. He had some drawings in his hand when he took the stand. The old map also was placed on the floor.

Witness is a civil engineer and contractor, and made a plat of the scene of the tragedy.

"You didn't make this map here did you?" asked Judge Anderson, pointing to the old map on the floor in front of the jury.

"I did not make it, but it is correct."

From another drawing held in his hand Mr. Creighton gave measurements of lines drawn on the original plat.

R. P. Seigenthaler.
R. P. Seigenthaler was sworn. He was examined by Mr. Anderson, and said he was lineman and city foreman for Western Union; had removed north pole for Mr. A. H. Wright, a contractor in North Nashville, just before Christmas.

"Where did you carry the pole?"
"To the corner of Church and Walnut."

"Did you ever examine that pole?"
"No sir."

"Now while that pole was on the yard did Mr. Ewing call to see you?"
"Yes sir."

An argument ensued relative to question asked by the defense concerning their efforts to preserve the pole. Judge Anderson said the defense wanted to show on whose authority or acquiescence the pole was destroyed.

"Did Mr. Ewing request you to preserve that pole?"
Objection of state sustained and witness not allowed to answer.

"May it please Your Honor," said Mr. Anderson, "I think we may show that if the pole was destroyed it was against the protest of the defense."

A. H. Wright.
A. H. Wright, a contractor and carpenter, was the next witness. He is crippled and walks with a crutch.

"Did you buy that pole, the north pole, at the scene of the killing?" asked Judge Anderson.

"I did not. It was given to me. Mr. Seigenthaler moved it for me."

"Did you examine it carefully?"
"Yes, sir."

"Did you find any bullet holes in it?"

BANK CLEARINGS FOR SHORT WEEK FALL OFF TRIPLE

Unusual Deliveries of Tobacco Bring Money Into This Section This Week.

Merchants Returning From Eastern Market Ladened.

RETAIL PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

BANK CLEARINGS.
This week $636,185
Last week 788,306

With only five business days, owing to Monday being a national holiday, the bank clearings show a decrease from last week, although the week has been lively in some lines of business while in other lines it has been quiet. Conservative business men estimate that more tobacco has been brought into Paducah this week than ever before in that time. Bountiful rivers were loaded to the water line with the weed. Sales at both the association houses and the loose leaf house were satisfactory.

Some of the retail merchants have returned from New York and the eastern markets where they purchased the spring and summer stocks, and with Lent on the stores will begin to arrange the spring stocks while the customers will begin to get busy on the spring garments. The trade with the retailers has been good, however, as the heavy sales of tobacco have put money into the hands of the farmers.

PAY THEM BOTH

IS RECOMMENDATION OF JOINT FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Pass City Treasurer and License Inspector Controversy On to the Council Board.

After a long session last night the finance committee of the general council recommended that George Walters be paid $300 for his services for city treasurer, during the months of January and February, 1909, upon his verbal agreement that in the event decides he is not entitled to any part of the money, he will refund that portion, and that J. J. Dorian be granted $246.40 from January 1 to February 18, 1909. Mr. Walters demanded $495 from November 21, 1908, to March 1, 1909. Mr. Dorian had already been paid $195 from November 21 to January 1, upon his furnishing bond to reimburse the city in the event the court decides he is not entitled to the money. He is to continue his bond to cover the $246.40, if the general council decides to adopt the recommendation of the committee.

No recommendation was made in the license inspector controversy. Robert Hicks has been holding on to the office, but Judge Reed decided that Hubbard was elected in December and qualified to take up his duties January 1. He claims the salary of $65 the month for January and February, 1909. No salary has been paid Robert Hicks.

News of Theatres

The writers of comedy these days have not improved upon the work of a century and a quarter ago when Richard Brinsley Sheridan penned "The Rivals." The natural and uncouth humor in this play is caused by the scared bravery of Bob Acres, the quaint, infectious manner of the prince of Irish gentlemen, "Sir Lucius O'Trigger," the blustering Sir Anthony Absolute and the awful mutilation of the king's English by Mrs. Malaprop, while the numerous complications of the plot are as laughable as they were 40 years ago, when the illustrious actor, the late Joseph Jefferson, first made his fame as "Fighting Bob" in "The Rivals." Two of his sons have succeeded him and are now appearing in this comedy with phenomenal success. William W. is the "Bob Acres," while Joseph appears as "Sir Lucius O'Trigger," and the rest of the parts are portrayed by most capable artists. The Jefferson boys present "The Rivals" at The Kentucky on March 4.

"Texas," which comes to The Kentucky, March 3, has absorbed much of the breath and dignity of the Lone Star state. The story is one of human interest, bereft of absurd sensational incidents. The characters are all taken from life, and each one is a type in itself. J. Maudlin Feigl, who

TAFT INDIGNANT AT FALSE REPORT

Says New York Paper Misquoted Him.

Favors Commission but Did Not Say Present Schedules Were Responsible for Depression.

SPECIAL SESSION MARCH 15.

New York, Feb. 27.—President Taft made a vigorous protest against what he said was an absolute misrepresentation in a certain New York afternoon paper as to what he had said during the day in answering questions regarding the tariff revision.

He had stated, he said, that the present business depression was undoubtedly due in a large measure to the fact that the tariff is to be revised at an extra session of congress to meet March 15; that it was of the highest importance this work of revision should not be delayed, but executed with all diligence.

Taft also said that he favored the idea of a permanent tariff commission which should be worked out with deliberation, the duties of such a commission to be to make a careful study of the operation of the proposed new tariff law to the end that suggestions might be made in future which would tend to place the whole question of tariff on a more certain and scientific basis.

No Change in His Views.

Upon this statement Taft was made to say that the present tariff schedules were responsible for the present business depression and that when they were revised their own parents would not know them, all of which was amplified at length and made positive by appearing to be a vigorous and enthusiastic statement.

Taft was perturbed over what he called misrepresentation, particularly in view of the weight which is now given his words because of his official position. He had, he declared, changed his position in no way, and held the same views he had publicly announced during and since the campaign.

SALE CALLED OFF

GENERAL MANAGER EWING THROWS BOMB IN CAMP.

Orders the Association Members Not to Sell—Were Prepared to Dispose of Crops.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Feb. 27.—General Manager Felix G. Ewing, of the Planters' Protective association, called off the great loose sale of tobacco, scheduled to be held here under the "Hopkinsville agreement," recently signed by Mr. Ewing and the Longview farmers. His action created a sensation in tobacco circles and speculation is rife as to consequences.

Everything was in readiness for the sale of 2,000,000 pounds in 500,000-pound pools. Great tables, piled high with samples of the various crops, had been graded by S. G. Buckner, of this city; Edward Miller, of Paducah, and Robert Glover, of Springfield, Tenn. The growers were elated over the prospect of a successful sale, and the keenest interest was manifested by the large independent buyers and the buyers of the big corporations.

Announces "No Sale."

General Manager Ewing, who arrived in the city, accompanied by J. M. Counts, of Springfield, Tenn., visited the building where the auction was to take place and after an inspection of the types displayed announced that no sale could be held. In explanation he said that some of the types included in the pools—the low trash—was similar to the unsold 1907 crop now in the association salesroom in Hopkinsville, and that under the terms of the "Hopkinsville agreement" none of the tobacco offered should come in competition with the old crop on hand.

Refuses to Sanction Sale.

The farmers in the pools insisted that their samples had been gathered with great care and with due reference to the signed agreement, and that there would be no violation whatever of contract for the sale to proceed as advertised. General Manager Ewing was firm in his refusal to sanction the sale, and after officially declaring it off, left for his home at Glenraven, Tenn. Prior to the announcement of his decision he had called a meeting of the executive committee of the Planters' Protective association to be held at Guthrie.

Bitter Disappointment.

There is bitter disappointment among the South Christian farmers over the outcome of the matter, and much indignation is expressed. A conference, which will undoubtedly attract a great crowd will be held here. They decline to state what action is to be taken. The consummation of the sale would have meant about $125,000 immediately paid to the farmers in the pool, with other big sales in prospect. Cerealean farmers were in the city to arrange a similar sale of about 1,000,000 pounds.

The Week In Society.

GEORGE WASHINGTON AND SOCIETY

'Tis not because you did not lie
About the cherry tree,
Or that you were the Father of
This land of liberty
But that the emblem of your life
Came in so happily
For decorative purposes in gay society.

This time o' year you're done to
death,
For luncheon and levee,
For high-noon breakfast, dinner, ball,
And likewise cards and tea,
Mount Vernon is in candy wrought;
The hatchet's done in cake;
The cherries ornament the board
That's spread for your dear sake.

The cream is moulded like your hat,
Portraits place cards adorn,
Sometimes with Martha side by side,
But oftener alone,
The candle-shades and centerpiece
Are all of cherry-red;
The nation's colors that you loved
Drape chandeliers o'erhead.

And this is what you've come to,
G. Washington, my dear,
The sober ones among us
Would fain let fall a tear,
Your wisdom and your statesmanship
Are all forgot, I fear,
'Tis thus you are remembered
By Society each year.

Here We Rest.

Paducah's winter social season did not close in the blaze of glory that has sometimes been the case; nevertheless there were some pretty events
all on a small scale, however, except
the German club dance, George Washington's birthday and Shrove Tuesday being "next-door neighbors" this year made a dual celebration necessary, but George was easily King
Rex, for even the Shrove-tide parties displayed the patriotic tri-colors and the traditional Washington coat-of-arms, the hatchet rampant and cherries enchanant in preference to any other decorations.

The social club held their final entertainments "until after Lent"
this week, and there would be no
Social Calendar for the next 40 days
if it were not for the literary and musical clubs. One is deeply grateful that the call to starve the bin—or sin does not extend to the mind as well. One would "see the wheels go round" in some direction.

Next week the literary programs
will be omitted in clubdom and the exciting pastime of electing officers
for the next year will be entered upon. These business occasions, and the regular meetings for March of the U. D. C. and D. A. R. chapters are about all the social announcements. Everything else will be "too informal to be noticed, it is Lent, you know." Bridge parties will become bride classes and there will be more
work and less play about everything
And incidentally, while donning her
"Sackcloth and ashes" and sitting in the violet limelight, society will be evolving something especially fetching in the way of Easter gowns and butterfly effects.

Graham-Jones Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Lorena Scott
Graham and Mr. Marshall Monroe
Jones will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.
William Graham, 733 South Fourth street. It will be a quiet home wedding. The Rev. J. R. Henry of the Kentucky avenue Presbyterian church will perform the ceremony. The couple will leave at 6 o'clock for a wedding trip to New Orleans. They will make their home in Paducah.

Miss Graham is a pretty young woman of attractive personality. Mr.
Jones is private secretary to Mr. J.
H. Nash, master mechanic of the Indian Central railroad and is a popular and wide-awake young man.

Delightful Open Meeting of Delphic Club.

The Delphic club received on Friday evening in its rooms at the Carnegie library. It was a delightful social affair and the annual open meeting of the club. A number of men were included among the invited guests.

The rooms were attractively decorated in green and white, the club colors. In the assembly room, where the program was given, a stage was arranged and this was effectively
adorned with palms, ferns and vases
of white roses. Over the door leading from the hallway into the assembly room were blue and white draperies, the colors of Greece, in which land the club has pleasantly journeyed this year. The club library was prettily arranged as a refreshment room. White carnations and ferns formed the centerpiece of the table, with ferns at either end. Cut glass dishes of green and white peppermint sticks added to the pretty effect. In this room are hung a number of pictures, gifts to the Delphic
club from members and friends outside, each marking some country
which the club has studied.

The program delightfully emphasized Greece, the land of myth, history and love. Mrs. Mildred Davis, president of the club, and Mrs. George C. Wallace, the vice-president, were on the platform. Mrs. Wallace did the honors of the Delphic club very charmingly in a graceful address of welcome and introduced the program
features in a happy way.

Mrs. George A. Flournoy spoke first on "Legendary Greece." The Greek myths and legends were handled in an attractive and clever way. Mrs. Flournoy looked very fetching in a striking gown of white silk trimmed in embroidered bands
 of Grecian blue. Mrs. Mildred Davis followed with a brilliant paper on the "Golden Age of Greece," covering this interesting period of the world's history in a comprehensive way. Miss Mattie Fowler gave a charming paper on Lord Byron's connection with Greece, reviewing
 "Childe Harold," and following Byron's pilgrimage after fascinating
 fashion, lightened by the subtle charm of American humor. She closed with a reference to Byron's
 "Maid of Athens," and Mrs. Henry Overly sang in her most winsome
 and delightfully sympathetic way
 "Maid of Athens" to a violin accompaniment by Misses Bagby and Whitefield. It was a charming finale
 to an unusually attractive program.

The music of the evening was furnished by Miss Aline Bagby and Miss Kathleen Whitefield, in violin duets.
 They were in Greek costume and made an effective picture.

A social hour followed the program and a salad course luncheon
 was attractively served.

A gentleman who was among the Delphic guests said that in his opinion the club should have preserved as its property every paper presented since its organization, and should have had each year's work put in book-form at the close. This a valuable club library would have been formed. This had been done by the Filson club, of Louisville,
 and its library is said to be invaluable now for any historical research, especially for Kentucky. As this
 "mere man" is something of a student himself, it was a pretty com-piment to "sovereign woman" and her intellect.

Mrs. Voris Hostess to Magazine Club.
Mrs. Victor Voris' fame as a charming hostess received additional laurels
 on Thursday afternoon when she welcomed the Magazine club as her guests at her attractive home, 1627
 Jefferson street. The rooms were delightful with spring flowers, pretty vases of the Roman hyacinths and violets were effectively arranged
 about them.

In a business meeting, preceding the literary program it was decided to give members one dollar for failing to report. It was, also, decided to select officers by ballot.

The program featured an interesting number of reports. Mrs. Saunders Fowler from the Outlook reporting an article on "The New York Subway." Mrs. Edward Bringham, substituting for Mrs. Eli Boone, gave an account of "Early Venice." From the North American Review Mrs.
 Hal Corbett gave an article entitled
 "Religious-Medical Movement," dealing with much discussed Emmanuel movement of today. The Century was reported by Mrs. W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., and Mrs. Samuel T. Hubbard, in an interesting manner.

The pretty two-course luncheon
 was attractively patriotic in its service. The peas were in dainty cups bordered with flags. The angel food cake and cream was ornamented with cherries and tiny flags. The red and white peppermint sticks were tied with blue ribbon.

The president used for a gavel a small hatchet, decorated with the red, white and blue.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs.
 Donald McAllister of Marionette, Wis., and Mrs. Oscar L. Gregory, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Pretty Musical Luncheon For Bride.
Miss Courtie Puryear's musical luncheon on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home, 806 Broadway,
 in honor of Mrs. Fendol Carroll Burnett, an attractive bride from Mississippi, was a charmingly planned
 affair, having, also, the decided spice
 of novelty.

Each guest was requested to make a sketch illustrating the name of a song. In the guessing contest that followed, Mrs. Burnett received the prize for guessing correctly the largest number of songs. It was a bust

 of Wagner. Miss Ruby Lamb captured "Billiken" as the prize for the best drawing.

A pretty musical program was a delightful feature of the afternoon.
 Mrs. John Brooks sang "Cassina."
 Miss Ruby Lamb sang "Carmena."
 Mrs. George B. Hart played a "Valse
 Caprice," by Chaminade and "Bar-
 carole" by Nevin. Miss Mayme Dry-fuss gave a waltz song and "Bobo-link." Mrs. Hart sang "A la Bien Aimee."

The luncheon was a beautifully appointed affair in five courses. A large table was in the center of the dining room with small tables arranged
 about it. The color-motif of pink and white was prettily carried out in the appointments of the luncheon.
 The centerpiece for the large table
 was a tall crystal vase of pink carnations. Pink-shaded candelabrum was at either end. The small tables had the candelabra with pink shades in the center. The color-tone was effectively emphasized in pink shells for the peas, pink mints and individual cakes laid in pink. The place-cards were pretty conceits suggesting the names of the guests and were especially clever.

Those invited to meet Mrs. Burnett
 were: Mesdames Lela Wade Lewis, Walter Clark, Waddle Lang, John
 Brooks, Sallie Rash, W. C. Kidd,
 Joseph Gardner, Harry McElwee,
 Hubbard S. Wells, George B. Hart,
 John K. Hendrick, Misses Mayme
 Dryfuss, Ruby Lamb, Sophia Burnett,
 Grace Gardner, Mayfield; Ora V.
 Leigh, Mattie Settle and Virginia
 Newell.

Indianapolis Wedding.

Invitations have been received in Paducah to the marriage of Miss Florence Schrader and Mr. Logan C.
 Scholl, both of Indianapolis, Ind.
 The wedding will take place on Tuesday, March 16, at 8:30 o'clock in the evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christian A.
 Schrader, 1918 North Alabama
 street. After a European wedding trip the couple will be at home October 1, at 30 West Twentieth street, Indianapolis.

Miss Schrader visited Miss Ethel
 Brooks last winter and is pleasantly remembered by many in Paducah
 who met her then. She is a handsome girl of striking personality and was popular here.

Thursday Night Club.

The Thursday Night club held a pleasant meeting on Thursday evening in the parlors of the Palmer House. Roll call was responded to with current topics. Miss Blanche Hills featured the Lincoln number of the Century magazine very cleverly.
 Mrs. Fred Wade gave an interesting resume of Henry Watterson's sketch
 of Lincoln from the Cosmopolitan.

Enjoyable Evening.

A pleasant surprise party was given Miss Alma Armstrong last night at her home, 1130 Trimble street, by a number of her friends. Music and games were features of the evening.
 Those present were: Mr. and Mrs.
 Jake Elliott; Misses Edna Morgan,
 Jarle Brame, Susie Brame, Barbara
 Wright, Alma Armstrong; Messrs.
 Henry Roof, George Denker, Robert
 Malone, Charles Copeland, Walter
 Burton, Herbert Wright.

Church Concert

Circle No. 1, of the Church Furnishing society of the First Christian church, gave a delightful concert at the residence of Mrs. J. F. Harth, 320
 North Ninth street, Friday evening.
 Those who appeared on a well selected musical program were: Mrs. Vincent Salvo, Misses Lucile Harth, Ethel Sights, Ruby Lamb, Courtie Puryear,
 Letha Puryear, Joe Miller and Master
 Charles Jennings. A reading was given by Miss Brooks, Smith.

Kalosophic Club.

The Kalosophic club met in regular session on Friday morning at the Woman's club house. Venice was discussed very delightfully as follows:

"Venice in the 19th Century; Daniel Mann"—Mrs. Will Bradshaw.
 "Origin and Early History of Venice; The Days of the Doge and Government Council of Ten"—Miss Blanche Hills.

"Style of Venetian School of Painting as Affected by the Situation of City; The Bellini"—Miss Ethel Morrow.

Miss Faith Langstaff presented
 Current Topics.

Stereopticon Exhibition of American Fleet.

An exhibition of stereopticon views
 showing scenes on board the American fleet, on its recent trip around the world, was given at the Washington school auditorium Friday afternoon, under the direction of the history department of the Paducah High school. Miss Kate White arranged the entertainment and the views were announced by Miss Anna Bird Stewart. The proceeds of the exhibition will be devoted to buying new slides
 for use in the seventh and eighth grades of the history classes. The entertainment was attractive, as well
 as instructive and was largely attended. The pictures were beautiful and interesting.

THE INTELLIGENT USE OF

Newbro's Herpicide

RARELY FAILS TO PRODUCE THE MOST GRATIFYING RESULTS

Miss Della Knight

The prominent American actress, whose photograph is shown above,
writes as follows:

"I have found nothing to equal Newbro's Herpicide. It keeps the hair from falling and frees the scalp from dandruff. An occasional application leaves the hair delightfully fluffy." (Signed) Della Knight.

READ THIS LETTER

"Enclosed please find coupons for soap and comb
with order for 88 cents, for which please send the above articles.

"I have used Newbro's Herpicide for two years
and think an article so meritorious should be well advertised and widely used, for it is a boon to all womankind. I am giving you my experience and if you think it likely to be of interest, you are welcome to use it as you think best, for I have derived such great benefit from Herpicide that I would like others to know of it.

"When I began to use two years ago my hair
was only two inches long and very thin, the result of four years' residence in India, the intense heat of the climate having ruined my hair. I tried everything in Europe and in America without benefit, until I tried Herpicide. I am delighted with its effect and my friends never tire of admiring my hair; it is long, soft and as silky as a baby's hair,

not a gray hair to be seen, and my hair was quite gray before I used your incomparable remedy. I do not think the praises of Herpicide can be sung too loudly or too long. Several of my friends are using Herpicide on the strength of my recommendation."
Richmond, Va. (Signed) MRS. S. A. LEE

NOTE—Herpicide will not darken gray hair, and we do not want anyone to spend money for Herpicide in the belief that it will. Herpicide will stop falling hair, but if the hair that falls is gray, the new growth will be so gray. In this particular the above case is remarkable.

Send 10 cents in stamps to THE HERPICIDE COMPANY, Dept. L, Detroit, Mich., for sample and booklet.

$1.00 bottles guaranteed. At Drug Stores. When you call for Herpicide, do not accept a substitute. Applications at prominent Barber Shops.

this Feb. 1, 1909, R. D. MacMillen,

affirms that the above statement

of the circulation of The Sun for the month of January, 1909, is true

to the best of his knowledge and belief.

PETER PURYEAR,

Notary Public McCracken Co.

Daily Thought.

You may have a right to nurse

sorrow for yourself, but you have no right to let its shadow fall on others.

Cook, of Colorado, who roasted the president on the floor of the house,

will be served cold by a special committee.

Luther Burbank is not realizing on his feat as quickly as Lady Constance

Stewart Richardson did with hers.

According to the decision of the international naval congress, belligerents no longer can wage their warfare, seeking to embarrass one another, regardless of the rights of neutrals.

Rockefeller says the Standard Oil

trust is a combination of brains, not

of oil plants. That is true in a sense.

Yet, the price of brains didn't go up

like the price of oil.

We can remember when the accusation of night riding in Calloway

would have brought the blush of

modest pride to the face of the recipient of the accusation. Times have changed.

The free city of Manhattan! The

New York legislature proposes a popular vote on the question of making two states of the commonwealth,

the lower end, Manhattan, to include a purely urban population. It would be interesting to watch the experiment, that we almost wish it would be done.

LESSON OF THE COOPER TRIAL.

If the martyrdom of Ed Carmack

results in a revolution of public sentiment against the practice of two,

otherwise respectable, men gunning

for each other like a couple of Cairo

roustabouts, his death will not have been in vain. Isn't it a pity that so brilliant a life should have ended in that way? Cannot we now appreciate the disgrace that rested on all the principles to that tragedy? The adjutant general of Tennessee loaned

Carmack a pistol and knew Carmack

was carrying it in his pocket, contrary to the law. Just as high state offi-icals and private citizens knew the Coopers were carrying pistols. How much better it would have been to sue out warrants for all three and

put them to work on the rock pile.

WILLIAM TRAVERSE JEROME,

PUBLIC PROSECUTOR.

If all our public prosecutors were

as vigorous and unrelenting as William Traverse Jerome there would be less social disorder. He has just secured a penitentiary sentence for one of the suborners of perjury in the

Frank Gould divorce case. Millions

were involved in that struggle, but

the millions did not restrain Jerome's assistants. There were millions behind Harry Thaw. He procured for his money the testimony of celebrated

allstars; but fortunately, the public

prosecutor could not be bought, and

Thaw, despite his victory, is confined

in the asylum for the criminally insane. The office of public prosecutor

is too often considered merely the

stepping stone for the young man in everybody else. He is the man to whom the public must look to prevent

jury bribery, jury packing, unnecessary delays in justice, and all the

trickery of the trained criminal lawyer. We need more men like William

Traverse Jerome in this country to purge society.

WHERE THE BLAME LIES.

It is not the crime of carrying pistols that is responsible for murders.

It is the crime of training children

to the belief that under certain circumstances they are a law unto themselves, that is responsible for the

"pistol toting" habit. We must start

this reform, where all reforms must start, within ourselves. If we are to abide by the dicta of the "unwritten

law" and the doctrine of excusable

homicide, a man must go prepared in all emergencies to enforce that law

and apply that doctrine, or he is "unmanly." How can a man shoot another in hot blood unless he has his gun with him? Let us not shift the blame for this accursed thing on someone else.

FUNERAL OF HORACE B. OSBURN

WILL BE HELD.

Samuel Gibson, the Tennessee Street

Flagman, Dies—John Champy is Dead.

The body of Horace B. Osburn,

who was shot and killed at his home, 314 Kentucky avenue, Thursday night, will be taken to Canton,

Ky., on the 3:30 o'clock Illinois Central train this afternoon. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon and

the burial will be in the family cemetery.

Samuel Gibson.

Mr. Samuel Gibson, 65 years old,

residing at 517 South Fifth street,

died last night at 10 o'clock after a

several weeks' illness. The immediate cause of Mr. Gibson's death was pneumonia. Mr. Gibson is a well known resident of the south side of the city, and for a number of years

had been flagman at the Tennessee

street crossing for the Illinois Central railroad, but recently had been unable to work on account of poor health. Mr. Gibson was born in White county, Kentucky, in 1843 and for the last 19 years he had been a resident of this city. He is survived by five children, all living in this city.

The funeral and burial will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at

Oak Grove cemetery.

John Champy.

John Champy, 9 years old, died

last night at 12:30 o'clock at his home near Florence Station after

eleven weeks' illness of heart trouble.

John Champy was the son of Mr. and

Mrs. Denny Champy. Besides his parents he is survived by three brothers, Dennis, Louis and Joseph

Champy. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the St. John church and the burial will be in the church cemetery. The services will be conducted by Father

Rinehart.

Not Within His Jurisdiction.

A well known New York judge invited a friend of his, a lawyer from

Boston, to go for a short trip on his yacht. A storm came up and the boat

began to roll and toss in a manner

which the Boston lawyer did not relish.

The judge laid a hand on his

friend's shoulder and said, "My dear

fellow, is there anything I can do to make you comfortable?"

"Yes," was the grim reply, "over-

board me."

There is probably nothing quite so

sad as the actions of a man who tries to be funny and doesn't know how.

There's a lot of difference between

There's a lot of difference between

His Time Was Up.
"I can't get over it," said Sandy Macatavish to his wife. "Wad ye believe it? I put a two-shillin' piece in the plate at kirk this mornin' instead of a ma usik penny."

"Weel, Sandy, if I was you, I shouldn't put ony money in till the fower-and-twenty Sabbaths are up," suggested Mrs. Macatavish.

And, acting on her advice, Sandy didn't.

On the twenty-fifth Sabbath the farmer again ignored the collection plate, looking straight in front of him; but the old beadle was not to be cheated. Holding the plate in front of the crafty Scotchman in a loud, tragic whisper he exclaimed:

"Noo, then, Sandy, mon—Sandy, your time is up the post!"

A Long Sentence.

The prize for the longest sentence ever written may fairly be awarded to the elder Dumas, who probably holds a further record for fertility of production. In the seventh of the twenty-nine volumes which compose the "Impressions de Voyage," there is a sentence describing Benvenuto Cellini which fills three pages, of 108 lines, averaging forty-five letters apiece. The sentence is broken by sixty-eight commas and sixty semicolons; but as it contains 195 verbs and 122 proper names, the reader is somewhat bewildered before the end is reached.—London Chronicle.

Tommy—Paw, when you say "aww" done by congress," is "by congress" swearing?

Mr. Tucker—Not necessarily, my boy; but it often causes a lot of swearing.—Chicago Tribune.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

No case of contagious blood poison is ever cured until the last particle of the virus has been removed from the circulation. The least taint left in the blood will sooner or later, cause a fresh outbreak of the trouble, with all its hideous and destructive symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper colored spots, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. No other medicine so surely cures contagious blood poison as S. S. S. It goes down into the blood and steadily and surely drives out every particle of the infection. It absolutely and perfectly purifies the blood, and leaves this vital fluid as fresh, rich and healthy as it was before the destructive virus of contagious blood poison entered the circulation. S. S. S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin cleared of all spots, sores and other blemishes, the hair stops coming out, the mouth and throat heal and when S. S. S. has cleansed the system of the poison no trace of the disease is left. S. S. S. cures contagious blood poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven for more than forty years. Book on this disease with suggestions for home treatment, and any medical advice sent free to all who write.

KEEP PEACE WITH PUBLIC OPINION

Senator-Elect Root Tells How to Keep Down War.

Founded on Justice of Peace, He Declares at Banquet Attended By Noted Diplomats.

THE TRUE BASIC PRINCIPLE

New York, Feb. 27.—The Peace Society of New York brought together around the banquet table at the Hotel Astor last night a notable gathering of men, prominent in national, state and city affairs. The dinner was in honor of Senator-elect Root, of New York, and Joseph H. Choate was the toastmaster. President-elect Taft, Governor Hughes, Right Honorable James Bryce, British ambassador; Baron Kogoro Takahira, ambassador from Japan, and Joaquin Nabuco, Brazilian ambassador, were speakers, and the guests numbered about eight hundred.

Root in his address dwelt upon the causes that led to war: "It rests with the army and navy to make aggression and injustice unprofitable and unattractive," he said. "It rests with you and me, with every woman without struggling for the right of suffrage to exercise the powers that God has already placed in our hands; of every man in the exercise of his duties, political and social, to morally move conceptions of an honorable life away from old ideas of savagery toward new ideas of civilization, of humanity, in their progress gradually to the supreme idea of Christianity."

Peace Founded on Justice. "Peace can never be except as it is founded upon justice, and it rests with us in our own country to see to it that the idea of justice prevails and prevails against the declaration of the demagogue, against the ill-timed exhortation of the politician, against hot temper of mob and of inconsiderate."

The speaker here recounted a number of causes that led to war, and continued, "the gentlemen who introduced into the legislature of California, Montana and Nevada legislation regarding treatment of Japanese in these states doubtless had no conception of the fact that they were giving to that nation of gentlemen, soldiers, scholars and scientists, of statesmen, a nation worthy of challenging and receiving the respect, honor and homage of mankind, an injury by an insult that would bring on private war in any private relation in our own country. Thank heaven, wiser heads and sounder hearts, instructed and enlightened upon true nature of proceedings, prevailed and overcame inconsiderate and thoughtless."

"But a few days ago a member of the house of representatives with no other apparent purpose than to make himself prominent by an attack upon an American charged upon the chief magistrate of the little republic of Panama, fraudulent conspiracy with regard to the contract upon negotiation by the government of that country regarding the forests of Panama. All Panama was instantly alive with just indignation."

Matter of Public Opinion. "This insult was felt all the more keenly because we, with our ninety millions and our great navy and army presented an overwhelming and irresistible force with a little republic whose sovereignty we are bound, trebly bound, in honor to maintain and respect. These are things that make for war, and if you would make peace you will frown on them, condemn them, ostracize and punish by all social penalties, men who are guilty of them, until it is understood and felt that an insult to friendly foreign power is a disgrace to the insulter, upon level with crimes that we denounce and for which we inflict disgraceful punishment by law."

"Now this is a subject for you to deal with. The government cannot reach it; laws cannot control it. Public opinion, public sentiment, must deal with it and when public opinion has risen to that height all over the world that people of every country treat the people of every country with that human kindness that binds home communities together, you will see an end of war."

BILLY SUNDAY IN HOT CHURCH FIGHT

Whipped in His New Springfield Tabernacle.

Choir and Part of Audience Continue Singing While Ex-Ballplayer-Evangelist

SUBDUES AN IRATE ILLINOISAN.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 27.—Rev. W. A. Sunday, better known as "Billy" Sunday, former baseball player—now an evangelist, was horsewhipped by a man at the "Sunday Tabernacle" where, in the presence of 3,000 persons he was conducting the opening meeting of a revival.

The evangelist had just made his opening remarks and was leaning against the pulpit on the elevated platform while a hymn was sung by his choir leader when a man, who said his name was Sherman Potts, sprang forward with a buggy whip and struck Sunday several terrific blows.

Sunday Gives Battle.

Sunday leaped from the platform and dashed at his assailant, whom he knocked down in the center of the aisle. The audience was on the verge of panic, with women weeping and children screaming while Potts and Sunday rolled and tumbled in the aisle. The choir and the audience, however, continued to sing and quiet was soon restored. Several men seized Potts and they held him until a policeman came and took him to jail.

The prisoner said his home was near Lovington, Ill. According to his statements at the jail, he was once declared insane and committed to the Jacksonville asylum, whence after a brief confinement, he was released as cured. He said he came to Springfield from Decatur today to horsewhip Sunday; that he had purchased the whip in Springfield and went to the tabernacle early. He made the attack, he said, in defense of the virtue of a woman which he declared had been criticized by the evangelist. The police say Potts is a religious fanatic.

ONLY ONE SHOT

FIRE BY LOUIS FUTRELL AT OSBURN.

Revolver Was Against Victim's Coat and Powder Burned His Garment.

Only one shot was fired when Horace B. Osburn was killed by Louis Futrell, according to the evidence given before the coroner's jury yesterday afternoon. Two empty shells were found in the revolver, and it was thought that one shot went wild, but it has been learned that the hammer was carried on the empty shell to prevent an accidental discharge. Witnesses testified that the shot was muffled, and the jury made an examination of the clothing. The overcoat of Futrell was examined, as it was thought the pistol was concealed in the pocket when fired, but that proved erroneous. The coat of Osburn was examined and a hole about two inches in diameter was burned in it, showing that the barrel of the pistol had been thrust against Osburn. The witness testified to hearing loud talking, and that Osburn had held of Louis Futrell, leading him out of the door, when Futrell shot.

The verdict was: "We, the jury, empaneled to inquire into the cause of the death of H. B. Osburn, whose body lies before us, and from the evidence that he came to his death in Paducah, Ky., February 25, 1909, as the result of a pistol ball shot from a

THREE MORE "DRY."

Fifty-five Saloons Will Be Forced to Close. Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 27.—The great preponderance of the temperance sentiment in the rural counties was again demonstrated, when three counties voted "dry" under the county local option law by majorities ranging from 800 to 2,000, making a total of 23 counties that have now voted under the law with only one to vote wet.

The three counties voting are Fayette, Fountain and Hendricks, none of them having a city of any considerable size and all having heretofore used the remonstrance law effectively. In the towns, however, remonstrances often failed and they have now banished the saloons with the help of the country districts. A total of 55 saloons are affected by the results.

CHAPTER V.
THE BOSS OF THE SENATE INSPECTS A NEW MEMBER.

An actor playing the role of a high type of southern planter would score a decided success by picturing the character exactly after the fashion of Senator William H. Langdon as he strode to the desk of the International Hotel. A wide brimmed black hat thrust back on his head, a long black perfect in his mouth, coatails spreading out behind as he walked, and the "Big Bill" Langdon smile on his face that carried sunshine and good will wherever he went, he was good to look on, an inspiration, particularly in Washington.

Following the senator were Miss Langdon and Hope Georgia, leading a retinue of hotel attendants staggering under a large assortment of luggage. Both beautiful girls, they caused a sensation all of their own. Carolina, a different type from the younger, had an austere loveliness denoting pride and birth, a brunette of the quality that has contributed so much to the fame of southern women. Hope Georgia, more girlish and a vivacious blond, was the especial pet of her father and usually succeeded in doing with him what she chose.

A real senator and two such young women handsomely gowned seemed to take the old hotel back a score of years—back to the times when such sights were of daily occurrence. The ancient greatness of the now dingy International lived again.

"How are you, senator? Glad to welcome you, sir," was the clerk's greeting.

The genial senator held out his hand. Everybody was his friend.

"Glad to meet you, sir; glad to meet you," he exclaimed. "Must make you acquainted with my daughters. This is Miss Carolina Langdon, this Miss Hope Georgia Langdon."

The two girls, with their father's idea of courtesy, shook hands with the clerk, who was not at all taken aback by the unexpected honor.

Hope Georgia was thoroughly delighted with everything, but Carolina looked at the worn and faded walls and furnishings with evident distaste. "Oh, this is Washington," murmured Hope Georgia ecstatically, clasping her hands and gazing at a vista of artificial palms in a corridor.

"Ah, this is Washington," sighed the new senator contentedly as he gazed across a hall at the biggest and most gorgeous cigar stand he had ever seen or ever hoped to see—the only new thing added to the hotel since Grant was president.

"Truly magnificent establishment you have here, sir; magnificent," he exclaimed as an imitation marble column came within his purview. "I remember my friend Senator Moseley speaking to me of it thirty years ago. Are our rooms ready?"

The clerk, hugely pleased, hastened to assure him that everything was in first class order, waiting.

"You better go up, girls, while I look around a bit and sort of get the hang of things."

"Yes, I think we had better look around a bit, too, before we decide, father," said Carolina diplomatically. Her father patted her affectionately on the arm.

"Now, don't you worry, Carolina. I see you think this place too expensive from its looks—too good for us. But I tell you the best, even this, isn't too good for you girls and your dad. Run away, and I'll come up and see you soon."

The new senator leaned his elbow on the desk, surveying the place.

"I understand this is a favorite haunt for the big men of Washington," he said.

The clerk eagerly agreed.

"Yes, indeed, senator; we have them all. Senator Peabody and Senator Stevens were here just a moment ago. Boy, and Senator Peabody and Senator Stevens and tell them Senator Langdon is here."

The two senators came quickly.

"I'm glad to see you, Langdon; glad to see you," exclaimed Stevens, with an assumption of effusiveness. "I want to introduce you to Senator Peabody of Pennsylvania."

Peabody bowed, and Langdon held out his hand.

"I'm delighted to meet you, senator. This is a proud day for me, sir."

Peabody had put on his smoothest and most polished manner.

"I came especially to meet you, Senator Langdon," he said. "Although we are on different sides we may be interested in the same things. I hope we shall see a great deal of each other."

Langdon chuckled.

much about this lawmaking business, you know. Raising cotton, arguing the government and bossing niggers have been about the extent of my occupation for the last forty years, so I reckon I'm not much of a practical lawmaker."

"Oh, you'll learn; you'll learn quickly," assured Peabody. "With Stevens, here, for a guide you can't go wrong. We all look up to Stevens. He's one of the powers on your side. He's an able man, is Stevens."

The new senator from Mississippi gladly corroborated this.

"You're right, sir. A great man! I tell you, when he told that legislature what they ought to do, Senator Peabody, they did it. If it wasn't for Stevens I wouldn't be here now."

In mock protest the senior senator from Mississippi raised his hands.

"Now, now, Langdon, don't say that. Your worth, your integrity, your character and our old friendship got you the senatorship."

The old planter laughed gleefully.

"Sure, Stevens, I have the character and the integrity, but I reckon the character and integrity wouldn't have done much business if you hadn't had the legislature."

Clearly delighted, Peabody considered it certain that this new senator knew just the way he should go and would cause no difficulty. His keen sense of gratitude made him appreciate how he had been elected. Peabody literally beamed on Langdon.

"I hope we shall be able to work a good deal together, senator," he said.

"I have the interests of the south at heart, particularly with regard to this new naval base. Perhaps we may be able to get you on the naval committee."

"Me!" laughed Langdon. "Well, that would be going strong! But I tell you I'm for the naval base."

"For Altacoola?" suggested Stevens. Langdon hesitated. Peabody and Stevens watched him as eagles watch their prey from the mountain crag.

"Well, it looks to me like Altacoola ought to be a fine site. But the actual place isn't so important to me. I tell you, gentlemen," he said in impressive seriousness that rang with sturdy American manhood—"I tell you that what is important is that the great, sweeping curve of the gulf shall hold some of those white ships of ours to watch over the Indies and the canal and to keep an eye on South America."

"And right there on our own southern coast I want these ships built and equipped and the guns cast and the men found to man them. I want the south to have her part in the nation's defense. I want her to have this great naval city as the living proof that there is again just one country—the United States—and the north and the south both have forgiven."

Senator Peabody clapped the new member on the back.

"Good!" he exclaimed. "You've got to make some speeches like that. We'll have you as the orator for the naval base."

Langdon's eyes opened wide.

"Orator!" he gasped. "Me! An orator!"

"Why, that was oratory, good oratory," exclaimed Stevens, with enthusiasm.

"Huh!" grunted the planter. "You call that oratory. Why, that was only the truth."

"We'll see that you do some more of it, then," laughed Peabody. "Remember, we count on you for the naval base."

"For rural simplicity he's perfection," whispered Peabody to Stevens as they left the planter. "He's a living picture of innocence. We'll push him forward and let him do the talking for the naval affairs committee. Hiding behind him, we could put through almost any kind of a proposition."

Once more did the senior senator from Mississippi acquiesce.

FELL FROM SCAFFOLD AND INJURED HIS BACK.

Thirty years ago James C. Lee, of 1100 9th St., S. E., Washington, D. C., fell from a scaffold and seriously injured his back. In telling about it he says:—"My suffering was terrible; from the small of my back all around my stomach was just as if I had been beaten with a club. I tried all kinds of plasters, belladonna, caprine and porous, without getting relief, and bought so-called electric belts, but none of them did me any good."

"One day, while working near my daughter's house, my back pained me so badly that I had to quit. I went into the house and lay down for ease. My daughter had a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in the house and she rubbed my back well with it and gave me some to take home. I used six and a half bottles of Sloan's 25c Liniment and can do as much work now as any man in the shop, although I am sixty-seven years old. I would not be without Sloan's Liniment for any consideration and recommend it to anyone suffering pain."

REMARKING A PEOPLE.

Some Remarkable Work Done By Americans in Philippine Affairs.

We have completed the separation of church and state, buying out from the religious orders their large agricultural properties, which are now administered by the government for the benefit of the tenants.

We have put the finances on a sound and sensible basis.

We have established a complete new system of auditing and accounting.

We have placed our civil administration on a strictly self-supporting basis, receiving no aid whatever from the United States government, except in so far as they have elected to help us in charting the coasts for naval purposes. This charting, which is being done at a rapid rate, is at the joint expense of the insular and national governments.

We have established a uniform and stable currency on a gold basis.

We have established schools throughout the archipelago, teaching upward of half a million children, and we find that the Filipinos are eager to learn and are rapidly learning the English language.

We have started a general and thorough system of road construction and maintenance, in which the insular, provincial and municipal officials co-operate.

We have established the policy of constructing all public buildings, as well as bridges and wharves, of durable material, preferably re-enforced concrete, in order that our work may endure.

We have given the Filipinos almost complete autonomy in their municipalities.

We have not as yet have given independence to the Philippines, but we are certainly giving independence to the Filipinos.—February Atlantic.

SPORTS PLEASSED WITH EXHIBITION

"Wild" Joe Collins, Holds Up to His Championship.

Local Boxers Spar to Draw Before a Large Audience at The Kentucky.

PADUCAH WRESTLER WINNER

Lovers of the "ring sports" were well pleased by the exhibition of skill and strength shown in the boxing and wrestling contests which took place at the Kentucky theater last evening. The sports were the best ever witnessed in this city. The crowd was small but enthusiastic, and a number of ladies were present and seemed to take as much interest in the events as anyone. "Wild" Joe Collins held on to his title of being undefeated, by getting two falls out of three, in a bout with Bob Reakes, the champion of Omaha.

The first event was a battle royal between five young men in the ring at the same time. Marvin Polk was the victorious one over John Heath, Lee Hart, Charles King and Sam Graham, the others in the contest. The bout was lively and amusing.

Paducah Wrestler Wins.

Next on the program was a wrestling match between Leslie Jones, the undefeated of this city, and a young amateur wrestler from Cairo, substituted for Robert Kinney, who was unable to come. Jones gained two straight falls from his opponent: the first fall in 14 minutes by a leg hold, and the second fall in 7½ minutes by an arm lock and leg hold. Jones outweighed his opponent by 15 pounds. Jones' weight was 150 pounds.

Sparring Match.

A six-round sparring match between Sam Goodman and Garfield Frogge came next on the program of sports. Both men are local boxers and the best in the city, and from the start of the first round both men used all their knowledge in their actions. Frogge seemed to have the force behind his blows, while Goodman was the aggressor most of the time. The bout was decided a draw by Harry Lloyd, the referee.

The last event was a wrestling match between "Wild" Joe Collins and Bob Reakes, of Omaha, the best two out of three pin falls, catch-as-catch-can, strangle-hold barred. The two men were about evenly matched. Collins, 153 pounds, and Reakes 158 pounds. The speed with which the bout continued was surprising. Holds were changed and first one man was on the defensive and then the other, and after 21½ minutes of continual grappling Collins obtained the first fall, a "scissors" on the body and an arm hold. After a ten-minute rest the two wrestlers met for the second match. Reakes had the best of Collins from the start and after 7½ minutes Reakes obtained the second fall with an "arm-lock" around body and "scissors" hold around head. Collins got the last fall in 15 minutes and 45 seconds with a half Nelson and leg hold. The contests last night were the fastest and best ever witnessed in this city. Mr. Farnbaker acted as referee in the wrestling matches and George Brown was official timekeeper.

Mr. Harrison, of Cairo, challenged Leslie Jones for a wrestling match under the same conditions. Paducah is promised another athletic contest in the next two weeks.

An Impossible Cult.

Like disease, like remedies. If society can escape from the morbid affliction of too much talk with too little sense, by taking up the cult of silence, there is yet hope for the statesman farthest gone in loquacity. It is always noisiest just before silence. We have no exactly formulated scheme or statute to suggest to bring about the surcease of words.

The main thing is to cultivate a changed temper and a new attitude. Let the loudest applause be reserved for the public man who announces that, having nothing to say, he will say nothing. Let to voluble statesmen be required to think at least ten minutes before they talk two hours. "Nature," said Disraeli, "designed me to be a silent man, but circumstances have compelled men to do a great deal of talking." The thing is for all of us to aid nature in her benevolent purpose to keep those silent whom the spirit never moves to an edifying word.—New York Post.
